

Student Projects from Maria Carillo High School, 2001-2002

Interviewee: Metsal Mesguh, Eritrean-American

Poster with a collage representing themes from the interview and a poem on the interviewee's life experience.

Interviewee: Suzana Garcia, Mexican-American

Poster display with poetry and collage/art representing themes from the interview. The poster also included some background on the interviewee's life.

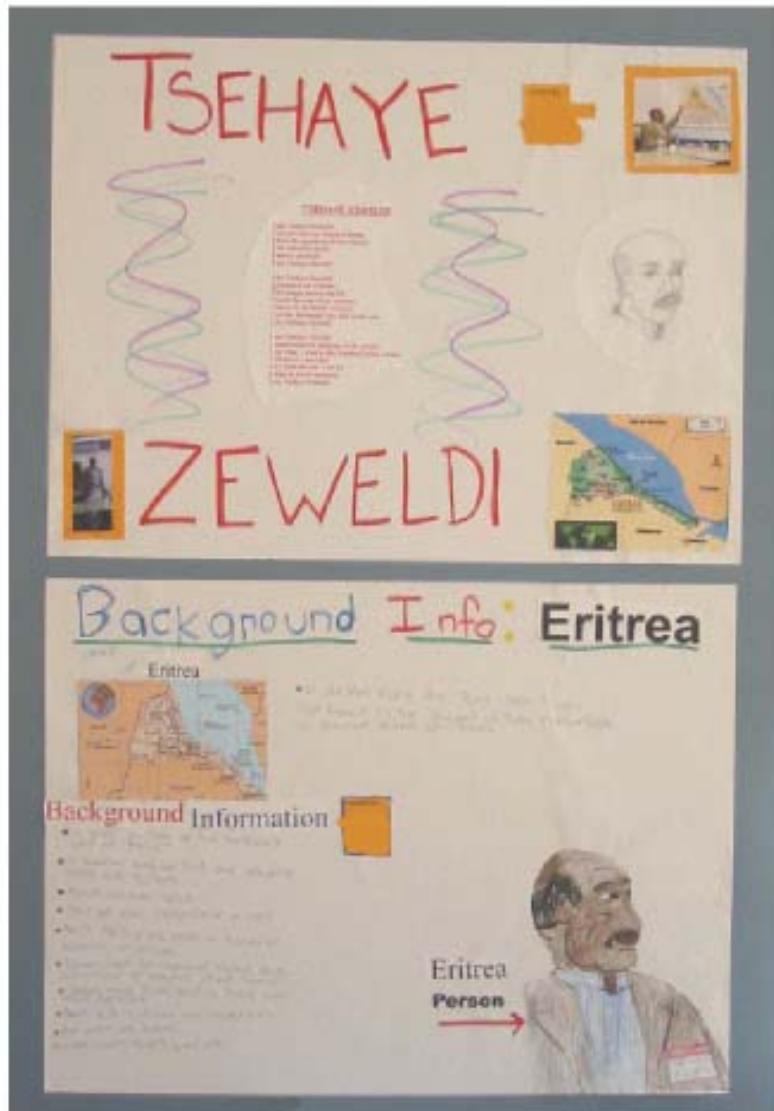

The group decorated a baby bottle with a collage representing themes surrounding teen pregnancy and abuse. Students went around their school and used the baby bottle to collect money for a women's shelter. Besides donating the money, students volunteered time at the shelter a few hours during the week and wrote reflections on the volunteer experience.

Interviewee: Tsehaye Zeweldi, Eritrean-American

Interviewee: Tsehaye Zeweldi, Eritrean-American

Poster with background on Eritrea including information and maps. Students also included photos from the interview, artistic portraits of the interviewee and a poem about Zeweldi's life experience.
